HABITS OF HIGHLY EFFECTIVE TEAMS (BASED ON COVEY'S 7 HABITS)

Review the key elements of Stephen Covey's Seven Habits of Highly Effective People and apply them to supporting team performance and collaborative effort; Apply the "habits" to critical supervisory functions; and create a personal "habits" development profile to support this type of work culture.

Learn how performance "happens" whether this is intentional or accidental; Learn how to counter the 4 reasons employees give for not performing as expected; and explore the key interventions at critical points in the performance management cycle.

MANAGING THE SERVICE DELIVERY PROCESS

11.14.13 OR 11.21.13

We'll identify ways to positively impact internal customer satisfaction and look for opportunities to overcome barriers, frustrations and problems that lead to disengaged and dispirited employees who are either incapable of or unwilling to take actions to deliver your company's value promise.

MANAGING IN THE MIDDLE OF THE MUDDLE

1.16.14 OR 1.23.14

The "muddle" is when you find yourself trapped between conflicting and often competing expectations and demands. Learn how to find balance, maintain perspective and stay sane when surrounded by insanity; and discover ways to gain more authority, take initiative more safely and increase your meaningful contributions to the company's success.

Supervisors cannot empower employees. Empowerment is a choice. We'll examine ways to create an empowering work environment, assist others in taking responsibility for their actions and encourage them to exhibit initiative to improve.

5.15.14 OR 5.22.14

Explore how you and your staff can use several practical, simple methods to learn from the future and then support better planning and decision making. Examine critical trends, benchmarking methods and methods of "future building".
